

Cash Premiums

—FOR—

News and Herald Subscribers.

Every subscriber to THE NEWS AND HERALD will be credited with one month's subscription for each new cash subscriber sent in in accordance with our subscription offer on page 1. Considering the greatly reduced prices at which THE NEWS AND HERALD is offered under this proposition, this should be inducement enough for every subscriber to send in as many subscriptions as possible. But in order to induce every one to go to work at once while the proposition is the more inviting, we have decided to offer to those who are the most successful in getting new cash subscriptions by May 10:

THREE CASH PREMIUMS

PREMIUM 1. Five Dollars in cash will be given to the subscriber to THE NEWS AND HERALD sending in by May 10 the largest number of new cash subscribers to THE NEWS AND HERALD as per special subscription offer on page 1, provided that the number of such subscriptions is not less than ten.

PREMIUM 2. Three Dollars in cash will be given to the subscriber to THE NEWS AND HERALD sending in by May 10 the second largest number of new cash subscribers to THE NEWS AND HERALD as per special subscription offer on page 1, provided that the number of such subscriptions is not less than six.

PREMIUM 3. Two Dollars in cash will be given to the subscriber to THE NEWS AND HERALD sending in by May 10 the third largest number of new cash subscribers as per special subscription offer on page 1, provided that the number of such subscriptions is not less than four.

CONDITIONS.—All the above offers are subject to the following conditions:

1. All subscriptions must be accompanied by the cash therefor and must be sent to us at the close of the week in which they are taken. Otherwise they will not be counted.
2. All subscriptions in this contest must be taken by 9 o'clock P. M., May 9, and must reach our office by 9 o'clock P. M., May 10.

There were no wild onions in that meadow in which Longfellow's kine grazed.

The following clipping would indicate that they are getting at things right over in Alabama:

"The Alabama agricultural department has ascertained from numerous reports that the corn average of the State will be increased 6 per cent., and the cotton decreased 8."

Congressman Johnson has introduced a bill in congress which provides for furnishing to those along the free rural routes mail boxes at about actual cost. There is need for a similar work in behalf of the patrons of city offices in the reduction of box rent, which is unquestionably too high. Such a reduction would greatly increase mail facilities in the small towns.

Rev. Sam Jones is said to be an advocate of trusts and monopolies. The Reverend Mr. Jones has had a monopoly so long on a certain style of strenuous preaching that we are not surprised at his advocacy of all trusts and combines.—Ex.

Judging from the great number of little one horse prayers that have tried to imitate the strenuous preaching of Mr. Jones, it would not seem that his monopoly has been very effective.

Judging from a remark of a subscriber who said he couldn't give up his county paper on account of the good advice it contained, we infer that at least one duty of a country editor is to give advice. As it is such an easy job to give advice, we want to be in the ring in this respect at least. So we want again to advise the farmers of this county not to neglect the planting of such forage crops as will enable them to tide over the summer without having to buy so much corn and hay. Then we would advise them not to increase their cotton acreage on account of the recent advance in prices, and not to neglect their corn for their cotton. If they will only take this much good advice this time, we would be willing to hold up a little while.

At least one thing will result from the Manning meeting—the retirement of "My Dear Appelt" to private life. What the senior senator did for this light weight was a plenty. Only old charges were reshaped while no new testimony was offered; hence the promised sensational did not develop. A good portion of Tillman's speech was devoted to a discussion of two changes in connection with the State campaign. One of these suggested changes was a stricter pledge for the candidates, in connection with which the suggestion was made that McLaurin be exempted from the pledge required of other candidates. Of course, such a suggestion is not to be taken seriously, for the same pledge would have to be required of all. Then, too, there is no use of making rules to fit McLaurin; he is too changeable to fit any rule, and he surely hasn't the gall now to offer for re-election at a Democratic primary. The other suggestion is that the candidates for the State offices and the candidates for the senate go in two sections in the State campaign. The effect of this would be to give two campaign meetings at each place. This would be an advantage to the candidates, but a disadvantage to the people, who can not afford so much of their time for attending these meetings.

Greenbrier Dots.

Greenbrier was well represented last week at the Charleston exposition. The following persons saw the grand sights in the "Ivory City": Mrs. Thos. Blair, Mrs. J. R. Curlee, Mrs. T. W. Ruff, Mrs. M. W. Peurifoy, Misses Nora and Libell Curlee, Miss Sallie Bertha Blair, Messrs. T. C. Leitner, Lonnie Melton, Harry Powell, and Ernest Blair. There are others who will go later.

Miss Mabel Curlee has returned to Columbia after several days stay at home.

Miss Etta Germany has been quite sick, but is now improving. Several coats of paint have been added much to the appearance of Mr. S. F. Castles' home. Mrs.

John Delleney, after a pleasant visit to relatives, has returned to her home in North Carolina.

Rev. J. B. Campbell preached an impressive sermon to a large congregation last Sunday. The attendance is improving.

Miss Sadie Aycock is visiting at Prof. Peurifoy's.

Our school was pleased to have the editor of The News and Herald visit us last week. Come again.

Hon. Jno. J. McMahan, State superintendent of education, will deliver an address before the Greenbrier school on the 30th of May. As Fairfield is his native county, and as she is justly proud of him, he will no doubt be welcomed by his many friends and associates of former day.

Another interesting feature of our school closing will be a play given by the pupils.

Flint Hill News.

At this time all farm work is well advanced and cotton is nearly all planted. Upland corn and sugar cane is already up and the planting of it is still continued. Several of our people are, at this writing, in Charleston visiting the exposition. Their names are Mrs. R. V. Bray, Misses Cynthia, Berta and Lutie Durham, Mrs. W. C. Peay of Bucklick and Messrs. W. A. Neil and Alexus Durham.

Mr. J. H. Neil of White Oak is with us for a few days.

Mr. R. H. Boulware on his return from Charleston came down and gave us an interesting account of his trip to the Ivory City.

Mrs. B. F. Boulware was quite ill lately but is now much better. There has been something like smallpox among certain of the colored people in this neighborhood. I do not think that it is though, for it has stopped none from work except one or two about two days. It has appeared in only one or two negro families, none elsewhere.

It was with sorrow that we read of the death of General Hampton. He was one of the greatest of Confederate veterans, and as such we will always remember him. Our veterans are passing over the river one by one, and in a score of years very few of them indeed will be left to tell the story of the famous fight. As a son of a veteran who fought on the bloodiest fields and felt the force of both bullet and shell let me, in behalf of the sons and daughters of the Confederacy, ask these kindly gentlemen for a few more accounts of the great contest. We want as many as we can get. These accounts, even the shortest, are eagerly read by us and are preserved by us as history. Was not a most beautiful piece written for memorial day by the kindly gentleman from White Oak? We honor the veterans and we seek to build monuments to them every day, but none of the monuments that we build to their memory can ever equal the one we have built to them in our hearts. Can we not have more and more accounts from them to keep in our memories? B. J. B.

For Over Sixty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhea. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Sold by all druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. 1-1-17

Crosbyville Items.

Planting is the order of the day this beautiful weather. Corn crops are very nearly all planted and coming up; stands good. I don't think there will be as much cotton planted around here as usual. There is a good deal more corn planted than usual. Small grain is not very promising at this time. Gardens are looking well.

The State and county superintendents of education visited the schools of this section a few days ago.

Mr. Clarence Wishart and Willie Stevenson returned to-day from the Charleston exposition.

Notes from Asia.

The ladies are looking after the gardens and raising chickens; the men are speeling the plov. It is important to have plenty chickens, for soon the campaign pienes and that best of good fellows, the candidate, will be claiming attention. By the way, our community boasts two candidates, Mr. John G. Mobley for railroad commissioner and Mr. C. S. Ford for the legislature.

Dr. Pixley passed here some days ago on his way to Catawba River for a few days' fishing. He said he was tired of hog and hominy and wanted a feast of fish.

Thomas Higgins, son of Mr. J. M. Higgins, has been suffering for some weeks with what the doctors fear is appendicitis. His condition remains unsatisfactory as yet, but we hope there will soon be a change for the better. A mare belonging to Mr. Dan. Hall gave birth to twin mule colts this week. Unfortunately they did not live. They were just alike and each had a blaze face.

Mr. A. M. Jackson, who moved here from Mitford, has opened a general merchandise store at the old James A. McCrorey place. He has a nice stock, especially a pretty line of spring dress goods.

Mr. J. H. Hall has planted Irish potatoes and onions for market—an example to be imitated. Few farmers grow enough of these for their own use.

The writer has purchased two sittings of fine Silver Laced Wyandotte eggs, and Mr. Editor, look to your laurels at the county fair. But may be we are saying too much, for eggs are not always chickens. J. T. Carter.

A Doctor's Bad Plight.

"Two years ago, as a result of a severe cold, I lost my voice," writes Dr. M. L. Scarbrough, of Hebron, Ohio, "then began an obstinate cough. Every remedy known to me as a practicing physician for 35 years, failed, and I daily grew worse. Being urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, I found quick relief, and for last ten days have left better than for two years." Positively guaranteed for Throat and Lung troubles by McMaster Co. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Smallwood Dots.

As I never see anything from our town, I will write a line or two. Farming is all the townsmen are doing. Wood-hauling is about over. Planting cotton is the order of the day. All are about through planting upland corn; some corn is up to a good stand. Gardens are very good. Grain, where it was not killed out, is looking fine, wheat especially. There is a great deal of amber cane planted around here for stock; also more sorghum came planted this year than last.

Another warehouse has just been completed in our town.

Mr. R. A. Meares has a fine lot of wheat.

Mr. E. F. Pagan, of Walhalla, spent several days at Smallwood recently. J. P. K.

COL. LAMAR PASSES AWAY.

(The State, April 28.)

Colonel Robert Gresham Lamar is dead.

Another Confederate veteran, worthy wearer of the Southern Cross, has been summoned to join his comrades at divine headquarters, there to receive an immortal crown from the Generalissimo of the Universe.

For some months his health has been failing, particularly since the death of his wife, just two months ago, and during the last two weeks it had been evident that the end was near. On Saturday he lost consciousness. Death had wrapped its sleep-inducing wings around him, and at a quarter past 8 o'clock yesterday morning his was a wakeless slumber.

Colonel Lamar was in his seventy-third year. He was a gentleman of the old school—patriotic, upright and of indelible integrity. Of him it could truthfully be said, he trod the path that "is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day." He bore the intense suffering of recent months with Christian resignation and fortitude, and now he has found the balm in Gilead, "for of the Most High cometh healing!"

Colonel Lamar, the youngest child of Thomas G. and Martha Leland Carry Lamar, was born in Edgefield district, S. C., now the county of Barnwell, February

TEETHINA Counteracts and Overcomes the Effects of the Summer's heat upon Teething Children, and costs only 25 cents at Druggists, or mail 25 cents to C. J. MOFFETT, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

22, 1829. He was a brother of Col. Thomas G. Lamar of Secessionville fame, and his three sisters married, respectively, Chancellor F. H. Wardlaw of Edgefield, Major Thos. Stark of Columbia and Col. N. A. Peay of Fairfield.

In early life he married Miss Mary Caroline Jones of Longtown, S. C. They had thirteen children, nine of whom survive: Mrs. R. H. Edmunds, Mrs. C. G. McCreery, and Mrs. J. Wilson Gibbs of Columbia, Mrs. Wm. M. Moore of Spartanburg, Messrs. A. J. and Robert Lee of Montgomery, Ala., and Miss Ella and Messrs. T. J. D. and Wm. F. Lamar of Florida.

Col. Lamar settled in Edgefield near the Savannah river and was a large and successful planter. He was a devoted husband and an indulgent father. He was noted for his kindness of heart and ready hand to bestow aid and charity upon his less prosperous and needy fellow man. He was a high-toned, honorable, Christian gentleman. He was an ardent States' rights man, and at the call of his State to arms he joined Capt. Hammond's cavalry company and served as lieutenant, but, owing to some spinal trouble which incapacitated him from active field service, he resigned his commission. He was afterwards appointed quartermaster of the Nineteenth South Carolina Volunteer Infantry, then under command of its first colonel, Wm. C. Moragne of Edgefield, and served with his regiment in the west under Generals Albert Sidney Johnston, Bragg, Joseph E. Johnston, and others.

During the war Col. Lamar was planting on the Mississippi river, but had to abandon his crops, and remove his negroes back to South Carolina, where he again farmed near Augusta, Ga. After the war he planted in Kershaw, Fairfield and Richland counties, but for a number of years, owing to loss of hearing and general poor health resulting from an accident nearly 20 years ago, in which both his legs were broken, he gave up active life and lived quietly with his family in Columbia, but he never ceased to take the greatest interest in the welfare of his State.

Colonel Lamar was a great admirer of General Hampton, and a loyal supporter of him. He was a member of Camp Hampton, U. C. V., and took the greatest interest in these affiliations. His wife died in February last after a peaceful and happy married life of fifty-two years. It can be truthfully said, "Here lies an honorable man—peace to his ashes!"

The funeral services will be held in the First Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock this morning, the interment being in the churchyard.

The members of Camp Hampton will attend in a body and are called to assemble at the residence at 10:45 o'clock to escort the body to the church.

The pallbearers will be as follows: Active—Andrew Crawford, B. L. Abney, O. Y. Owings, D. L. Bryan, A. E. Gonzales, Wade H. Manning.

Honorary—Col. T. J. Lipscomb, Angus P. Brown, Col. William Wallace, Jno. S. Verner, L. F. Youmans and D. R. Fleniken.
